Government in the matter of recruitment by the Staff Selection Board are purely administrative difficulties. The retention of the Government Training Institution is for educational purposes. So to abolish a professional institution just because in the matter of recruitment there are administrative difficulties will not surely be very relevant.

In the second place, the question of private training itself is of a very recent origin. In olden days there was no such thing as private training either in this State or in the Madras Presidency. Only persons who had experience and who new how to handle a class were allowed to go for training. While it is certain that a trained man is professionally better than an un-trained man, I can also say from my experience as a teacher in the Training Institution that a person who has some experience of handling a class is in a better position to understand in a teacher's class than a person who comes directly from a school or college. I do not really wish to argue this point on purely technical grounds, because the hon'ble member has also no technical reasons supporting this. He has brought in this motion only as a sort of vindictive motion. As we see, he himself has registered this as a protest against the Staff Selection Board and not as a protest against the Training Institution. I do not wish to say anything further, as already the hon'ble member has assured the House that he is going to withdraw the motion.

Mr. C. V. Iyyu (Kunnamkulam): I wish to speak only a few words by way of reply.

Deputy President : It is time for us to put the grant to vote. It is already 4-45.

Mr. C. V. Iyyu (Kunnamkulam): Then I withdraw the motion.
